

This email is to inform those who are questioning the local content and emphasis with regard to radio broadcasting, that here at Clear Channel in Medford, we have plenty of examples of investment and opportunity for local programming. We have broadcasted local politics and given air time to local representatives on several occasions just this year on our news/talk station KMED. From the Shady Cove to Grants Pass, participants in the local races have come on the air to discuss and debate the issues. We have given time to a number of local charities and events from the Pro Rodeo to the Jackson County fair, etc. We discuss local events and business. In this community, the radio air waves are a primary way for the locals to get their news, the local culture and feel connected to their community. This is community radio at its' best.
